Pastor's Page — Lent

When I was a kid we were given large cardboard folders to use during Lent. The discipline consisted in putting a quarter into a slot each day as a special Lenten offering. When it was time to offer up the money, the formerly slim folders were bulky and heavy. I think this particular practice has disappeared but I look back upon it as a worthwhile spiritual discipline. It was my first training in stewardship. This little practice of a Lenten tithe taught me that the Christian life includes habits of giving money away. It's a way to renounce treating money as an idol. I remember feeling its liberating effect.

This is what the ancient spiritual disciplines of prayer, fasting, and works of love are meant to do. They are ways to turn away from unhealthy practices by practicing something different, bringing us into a deeper awareness of God. Such Lenten faith practices hold the promise of bringing freedom and liberation. Should you choose to feed hungry neighbors, chances are you will see the face of Christ in their face. If you want to go deeper with your prayer life or in reflecting upon scripture, you may find yourself engaging God's love with both your head and heart. If you shut off social media or give up something else that is addictive you may discover new and freeing ways to spend your time. Practices of renunciation becomes new venues of freedom.

In recent years, I have come to view Lent through the lens of liturgical renewal. There is now more of an emphasis upon taking Lent as a time to form new Christians and assist them in their preparation for baptism at the Easter Vigil. It is based on early Christian practice. Having practiced this process called the Catechumenate, I've seen how such intentional formation involves members of the entire church community. This has enriched my understanding of Lent as a time to engage in practices that are intentionally related to the common life of the church. We are formed in community. Perhaps you will choose a discipline of praying with or for members of First Lutheran or consider becoming involved in choir or another congregational ministry. Perhaps you will choose a practice to be shared with another member of the church.

More and more, I find that such expressions of Christian community serve as a witness to the current culture of intense individualism where we see the interests of some taking precedence over the common good.

The Eucharistic preface for Lent prays it well: "You call your people to cleanse their hearts and prepare with joy for the paschal feast, that renewed in the gift of baptism, we may come to the fullness of your grace."

I pray God will renew us both as individuals and as a church community together, so that as we prepare with joy for the great Easter Feast we will experience the gifts of freedom and liberation that replace hearts turned in on themselves.

Peace,
Pastor Hansen

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Welcome to our new council members. We are excited to see your talents and skills enrich our congregation's traditions and future. Some of you may be completely brand new to the council. I encourage you to please ask lots of questions and do not hesitate to get involved beyond just your committees. As our First Lutheran Church of West Seattle's Statement of Mission states:

"In our congregation we: Believe that church membership is not easy, but a high calling to live a life of sacrifice in our witness to Christ's Cross, by giving of our money to the church, by giving of our time to further the work of the church, and by being ever ready to witness anywhere to God's truth, justice, and righteous purity."

As we welcome our new council members, I want to express my sincere gratitude to our outgoing members: Mariann Petersen, Tyler Schorn, and Dale Korsmo. Mariann, I thank you for your kindness and your invaluable knowledge of the council and FLCWS history. Tyler, I appreciate your eagerness to jump into action to get tasks done. Dale, thank you especially for all the facility repairs, tech support, deep institutional knowledge, and background support that have kept the council flowing smoothly. Thank you for devoting your time and energy to council these past years.

I would like to acknowledge the FLCWS staff. Thank you to Casey Blake for your gentle reminders and patience with me as I did not always make my deadlines. Finally, a big thank you to Pastor Hansen for your encouragement and guidance. I hope that I was helpful to you during your initial start with our congregation as pastor.

It was my goal to serve the congregation with humility, grace, and reverence. I made mistakes during my presidency. Please accept my apologies for any unintentional missteps or offenses. May we continue to move forward and look towards our bright future.

1 Corinthians 15:58

"Therefore, my dear brothers and sisters, stand firm. Let nothing move you. Always give yourselves fully to the work of the Lord, because you know that your labor in the Lord is not in vain."

STEWARDSHIP

In one of our most recent Council meetings Pastor Hansen asked us all to state what we are grateful for at First Lutheran Church, just as a way to check in with others, and to start the meeting on a theme of being grateful. I am always grateful for the music that First Lutheran has to offer in worship, but someone mentioned that before it was my turn, so I started to wonder, what will my answer be. When I was called on I did not even have to think, I could clearly answer that I am grateful for the generosity of the members of this church.

This year during Advent we had a ‘giving tree’ for the residents of Hospitality House. I am happy to say that it was a rousing success. Unfortunately I did not keep a list of every donation, but I think it was partially because I was so excited and overwhelmed to see the response. Not only did people purchase the suggested items, but they often purchased more than was asked for. An ornament asking for one gift card was often returned with several, or for a dollar value of more than was asked for. Donations were wrapped in festive paper and bows, presented in bright gift bags, or even decorated by hand. I took the donated gifts to Hospitality House and they were very grateful and excited to see the gifts as well. There was also a wonderful monetary donation that will help buy much needed supplies. Hospitality House provides for residents while there, but they also try to purchase items for residents once they leave to set up their new home - basic kitchen items such as a coffee pot, toaster oven, or even dishes are needed. Thank you to everyone for your support of Hospitality House.

I urge you, and myself, to try and continue this generosity past the usual ‘giving season’, and into your daily practice. It can be as simple as buying one extra perishable item for the food bank on a weekly shopping trip, extending a greeting to a new person you meet, or even spending your time to help others with a task that might be easy for you, but difficult for them.

Helping others through our time and talents is a great way to use the gifts that God has given us. As we pray every week “Merciful Father we offer with joy what you have first given us - our selves, our time, and our possessions, signs of your gracious love”.

We are so grateful for friends who cover us in such meaningful ways. It is because of you that our residents can find home, health and hope during their time in our program.

Thank you for choosing to support the women of our community who need us most. We could not do this work without you! May 2026 bring lots of goodness to you this year!

Pray in gratitude for the lives of those who have passed, and pray for those who grieve.

Pray for the hungry, ignored, abused, unemployed, addicted, homeless, and unbelievers. Pray God will show mercy to these people, and for all in Christ's church to see and help those who are in distress.

Pray for our leaders, that they may govern with wisdom, justice, mercy, and compassion.

Pray for people around the world who suffer from the effects of war, terrorism, natural disasters, disease, poverty, and abuse, especially the people of Ukraine, Israel, Palestine, Afghanistan, Morocco, Syria, Lebanon, Sudan and Nigeria. All immigrants and asylum seekers, and all who live in fear.

Pray that God will bless us through the lives of the saints: Valentine, Martyr (270); Martin Luther, Renewer of the Church (1546); Rasmus Jensen, First North American Lutheran Pastor (1620); St. Matthias, Apostle; Elizabeth Fedde, Deaconess (1921).

Merciful God, the fountain of living water, you quench our thirst and wash away our sin. Give us this water always. Bring us to drink from the well that flows with the beauty of Jesus.
